the International Institute of Public Finance

TAXATION IN A GLOBAL ECONOMY Call for Papers

August 20-23, 2015, Dublin, Ireland

The 71st Annual Congress of the International Institute for Public Finance (IIPF) will be held in Dublin, Ireland on August 20-23, 2015

Prospective contributors, both practitioners and academics, are invited to submit papers.

Deadline for submissions is February 15, 2015.

Papers should be submitted through www.conftool.pro/iipf2015

We gratefully acknowledge the generous financial support of PwC.

The theme of the 2015 congress is Taxation in a Global Economy. Increased international mobility of economic activity via FDI, trade, and migration has resulted in a tax environment that requires decision makers to consider their choices in a global context.

In particular, the mobility of tax bases poses serious questions for the implementation of tax policy and the sustainability of public goods. These issues and more, including tax competition between governments, tax planning by firms, and potential cooperative solutions will be topics of discussion.

Keynote speeches will be given by: Rosanne Altshuler (Professor of Economics; Rutgers University), Ruud de Mooij (Deputy Division Chief in the Tax Policy Division of IMF's Fiscal Affairs Department), Mihir Desai (Mizuho Financial Group Professor of Finance, Harvard Business School) and Michael Devereux (Director of the Oxford University Centre for Business Taxation, Professor of Business Taxation).

Furthermore, the congress features policy panels on the challenges facing open economies, including high-ranking policy makers and academics.

While the theme of the Congress is Taxation in a Global Economy, contributed papers on any topic within the field of public economics will be considered, as is traditional at IIPF congresses.

The papers to be presented will be selected by the Scientific Committee.

The submission of a paper is considered a commitment to attend the Congress, subject to the condition that the paper is accepted. The papers submitted should include an abstract, JEL codes and keywords. Only full papers/pdf files will be considered.

Acceptance decisions will be communicated by mid-April 2015. The authors of accepted papers are required to become members of the IIPF and to confirm their presentation by registering before May 31, 2015 (early registration date). Payment of the annual membership fee ensures a reduced registration rate. Non-members must pay a submission fee of €20 that will be credited against their membership when joining the IIPF.

Membership includes a subscription to International Tax and Public Finance (see also www.iipf.org), in a special issue of which selected congress papers will be published. To be considered for publication, papers must be submitted formally to the journal by September 18, 2015.

Authors who wish to be considered for one of the awards given at this Congress should indicate this when submitting papers.

GIZ will provide a limited number of travel grants for participants from developing countries. Details for the 2015 Congress will be posted on the website.
